

Williamson "Flash" Souvenir Corkscrews

A catalog from the readers of The Weekly Screw

Updated July 11, 2006

Don Bull, Editor, corkscrew@bullworks.net

This project began on May 23, 2006 with an announcement published in The Weekly Screw.

This is the "Flash list". For the "Picture Catalog", please see <http://www.bullworks.net/daily/flashpix.pdf>

In a 1929 catalog the C.T. Williamson Manufacturing Company, Newark, New Jersey, offered the "Flash" Corkscrew and Bottle Opener. This style corkscrew / opener can be found with many different paper souvenir labels from locations across North America. From the number reported so far, it seems the Williamson Company had a darn good representative selling the product.

The "Flash" corkscrews are found with metal caps on the bottom and without the cap. It is possible that those with caps are pre WWII and those without are after WWII.

The "Flash" corkscrews can be found with site related specific scenes (e.g. Empire State Building) and with generic scenes with place name overprint (Indian, Deer in Water, Sailboat, Beach Scene, etc.).

Although we have not yet found any advertising brochures offering the "Flash" for sale for dating purposes, we do know that one depicts the "Chicago's New Zoo at Brookfield, Ill." which opened in 1934. Another is from Santa's Work Shop North Pole, Whiteface Mountain, New York which opened in 1949.

Photos can be found on the Internet at <http://www.bullworks.net/daily/flashpix.pdf>,
